

Google Earth & Atomic Learning

Have you thought about using Google Earth to measure distances?

Here's an Atomic Learning video that will show you how easy it is to do that:

Atomic Learning added a new Lesson Accelerator to help you teach your students about latitude and longitude:

If you ever try to access an Atomic Learning tutorial during school hours and it never loads, it's most likely because our there's no more room in our bandwidth to download the video. Please access Atomic Learning tutorials after school hours or from home.

Be sure to check with your Building Tech Rep if you don't remember your Atomic Learning username and password.
